Forgers are working Reno. They forged O. Lenkey's name and got $45.50 from A. Wilson and $44.50 from Dan O'Keefe.

Now that the State suit against the Reno Reduction works has been settled there is no good reason why the plant should not be rebuilt. The company has just got it on a paying basis when the fire came and wiped out the most important industry ever started on the river. The APPEAL hopes that steps will be taken at once to rebuild. The State certainly produces enough ore to run the works at a profit.

Dr. McClary.

Dr. McClary, "The Miracle Worker," will lecture tonight at Odd Fellows' Hall. The Marysville Appeal has the following:

Last night there was standing room only at the lecture hall in Ellis block to hear Dr. McClary, the "Seer," in his entertaining lecture to gentlemen. Yesterday afternoon the hall was filled with ladies who were much pleased with the very instructive lecture, and much amazed when the "Seer" instantly cured one lady of a severe headache, and another of a severe pain and soreness in the side, with his magnetic touch, without medicine.

Tonight the hall will undoubtedly be crowded to see the experiments in hypnotism and second sight that will illustrate the lecture on that subject, by this marvel of science and mystic gift.

WELLS DRURY'S NERVE.

He Works a Liquor Dealers' Meeting in Sacramento.

A few nights ago the Sacramento liquor dealers had a meeting.

It was an executive session, and it was publicly announced that all reporters would be fired.

Wells Drury, however, was equal to the emergency. He painted his nose red, put a cigar in his mouth, cocked his hat over his left eye and passed the doorkeeper unchallenged.

During the meeting he was making speeches, denouncing the press, offering resolutions and suggesting a plan of campaign.

In the midst of this a man rushed in and announced that a reporter was present.

"If there is a sneaking press representative here," said Drury, "let him be bounced at once." (Cheers.)

"I dislike to be personal," he continued, "and I have kept silent. I don't care what reporter takes down my speech, and if you want to put what I say in your rotten old sheet do it and be d—d."

As he spoke he walked over in front of a red-faced man who ran a saloon on Second street.

"Put him out! Put him out!" was the cry, and in spite of the man's protests he was picked up bodily and chucked down stairs.

"I hope we will have no more of these interruptions," said Drury, as he resumed his red hot anti-press and anti-temperance speech. Drury's plan of campaign was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

The members of the Carson High School Debating Societies are preparing for a grand conclusion of the year's work.
